1. The house of Khamis At Tahhan In Dahiyat al Salam, on the outskirts of Shu’fat refugee camp, Israeli forces demolished the home of a Palestinian refugee family of 9 people, including 4 children, the youngest of which is 5 years of age. This is not the first time that the family suffers demolitions. According to the family they were forced to self-demolish parts of their home, which at the time consisted of 2 structures, in 2006. The rest of the home, together with barracks which served as an alternative shelter was demolished by Israeli authorities a year later. The structure which demolished this morning, which consisted of 2 bedrooms, a kitchen and sitting room, totaling around 55 m2, was built in August 2008 by volunteers from the Israeli Committee against House Demolitions (ICAHD).

2. The house of Nemer Ali Nemer In the Al Ghezayel area of Sur Bahir: Israeli Occupation authorities demolished the home of 4 Palestinian families. This includes (i) a family of 6 (2 parents and their 4 children, 3 of which are below the age of 18, including a child of 5); (ii) a family of 2 (the son of the first family and his wife); (iii) a family of 4 (another son of the family, his wife and 2 children under 18); and (iv) a family of 3 (another son of the family with his wife and a child). The demolished structure, which was built in 2000, was a 2-storey building containing 4 housing units, totaling around 700 m2. The owner received a demolition order in 2000 while the building was still under construction and has been trying to fight demolition before Israeli courts ever since. The families were not given time to move furniture and other personal belongings out of their homes before they were demolished, with the result that much of their belongings were destroyed.

3. In the Al Sala’a neighbourhood in Jabal Al Mukabber Israeli Occupation authorities demolished the home, consisting of barracks, of an elderly Palestinian woman of 75 years and her son. This is the second demolition suffered by the family. Their initial home, located in the same place, was demolished by the authorities in 2006. The demolition process in this case was relatively rapid; the first demolition order was received in May, the second in September and now the demolition has taken place.

4. In the Farouk neighborhood of Jabal al Mukabbir Israeli Occupation authorities demolished part of the home of a Palestinian family of 5. The demolished part served as an extension to the home, which houses the 2 parents (the father being blind), his wife and their 3 adult children (of 18, 23 and 28 years). The family will remain in the rest of home in crowded conditions.

5. In Al Ghezayel neighborhood of Jabal al Mukabbir Israeli Occupation authorities demolished the remnants of the home of a Palestinian family of 14 people, including 8 children of ages 4-17. Following the receipt of a demolition order in September the family itself demolished parts of the building; the rest of the building was demolished by the authorities today.
